

I am concerned that allowing Low power FM will remove the only radio stations in my area that I consider safe for my whole family. My family only listens to K-Love and National Public radio (NPR), as they are the only stations I have found that my children can listen to without hearing questionable music, commercials, or DJ talk. I know many of my friends and neighbors feel the same way. I also believe these type of national radio stations serve our community by connecting listeners all over the country.
